

To Whom It May Concern,

It is with great enthusiasm that I recommend Emmanuelle Stockfish as she graduates from Mount Saint Mary's University with her Bachelor of Science in Nursing. I have had the privilege of serving as Emmanuelle's clinical instructor and have observed firsthand her exceptional dedication, clinical competence, and compassionate approach to patient care.

In the clinical setting, Emmanuelle consistently demonstrated a strong grasp of nursing fundamentals, critical thinking, and evidence-based practice. She approaches each patient with empathy, respect, and cultural sensitivity, ensuring their needs are met holistically. Her ability to integrate theoretical knowledge into practical application was evident in her skillful patient assessments, accurate medication administration, and thorough care planning.

Emmanuelle is also an outstanding communicator, collaborating effectively with interdisciplinary teams and establishing trust with patients and families. Her professionalism, reliability, and willingness to take initiative set her apart from her peers. She seeks out learning opportunities, embraces feedback, and demonstrates resilience in fast-paced, high-acuity environments.

I am confident that Emmanuelle will excel in any nursing role she undertakes. Her combination of clinical expertise, compassionate care, and unwavering commitment to excellence makes her an asset to any healthcare organization. She embodies the values of the nursing profession and will undoubtedly contribute positively to patient outcomes and team dynamics.

Please feel free to contact me if you require any further information or if I can provide additional insight into Emmanuelle qualifications.

Sincerely,

Shabanam Khan, MSN, BSN, PHN, CLE, RN
Adjunct Clinical Professor

Mount Saint Mary's University
12001 Chalon Road, Los Angeles, CA 90049
skhan@msmu.edu

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Shabanam".